“The perfect grape for a wine that translates from German as ‘Dark Field’”

Never heard of this wine before? It is a German grape that, with its deep and dark hue, has been traditionally been used in blending to deepen light coloured red wines. So you will probably have tasted it before and never known it! For the first time ever we have bottled it as 100% varietal and we are very excited about the result! This wine is dry, with good acidity, fruity flavours, hints of blackberries, cherries and caramel. Welcome to something unique and wonderful!
